

Board of Canadian Registered Safety Professionals 2014 Volunteer of the Year Announcement

Carmen Mager is a health and safety professional at the Toronto Transit Commission specializing in transit safety. Carmen is responsible for developing and facilitating health and safety training, serves as the Management Co-Chair on her local Joint Health and Safety Committee and has led serious incident investigation teams.

Carmen holds a BA degree in Canadian Studies from York University, a Masters Certificate in Adult Training and Development from Schulich School of Business and certificates in Occupational Health and Safety, Business Administration and Public Relations from Ryerson University.

A CRSP since 2003, she is serving as Chair of the Item Writing Committee and recently worked on the Competency Review Project. Carmen enjoys the opportunity to advance the health and safety profession along with other dedicated and knowledgeable CRSPs.

As Carmen believes that the learning never stops, she is continuing her studies in the field of health and safety, as well as volunteering her time in other areas. She finds volunteering to be very rewarding and encourages everyone to get involved.

The Board's Volunteer of the Year program was initiated in 2001 in conjunction with its 25th anniversary and the United Nation's "Year of the Volunteer". The Board of Canadian Registered Safety Professionals (BCRSP) is a public interest, ISO 17024 (Personnel Certification Body) and ISO 9001 (Quality Management System) accredited, self-regulating, self-governing organization established in 1976 under The Canada Corporations Act for the purpose of certifying Canadian Registered Safety Professionals (CRSP)®/ Professionnel en sécurité agréé du Canada (PSAC)®.
